

The Italian Health Care Industry: the Emilia-Romagna clusters

high quality and innovative products and services

Just two hours away from Turkey, in the north-east of Italy, you find the very best in the biomedical sector, in orthopedics and prosthetics, in software and health and welfare services. The region of Emilia-Romagna is noted for its research and innovation centres, among the most advanced in Europe, for its highly specialized hospitals, and for the numerous companies along the whole health, welfare and wellness supply chain, all working closely together with prestigious, world-renowned universities.

The health care industry of Emilia-Romagna is the reliable and affordable partner for the development of the healthcare system in Turkey, and in every country wanting to benefit from a supply chain of high quality and innovative products and services.
